Ramsha Waseem
Pride of DPS

Ramsha Waseem, our student of class XI was awarded scholarship for iEarn exchange program (2014). She represented Pakistan as a youth ambassador in the US and endeavoured to make the opportunity worthwhile.

Her experience and stay in the US as a Pakistani exchange student was published in the local news paper during the 'International Education Week' that was celebrated in the US, this was also published on the YES website and featured on the iEarn and US consulate pages. She was also interviewed over radio on Voice of America for the same.

Ramsha was a member of the Glenbrook North High School's 'National Honor's Society' and was the only Pakistani among the ten US citizens whose letter from the 'White House' mail was sent to President Obama, she was honoured with a personal reply from him.

The US Department of State awarded her a Certificate of Appreciation for the183 hours of community service rendered by her at the Northbrook's library and volunteer work at various festivals.

As a youth ambassador of our country and religion, she gave 55 presentations featuring Pakistan and Islam for which she was rewarded with a trip to Orlando, Florida and was conferred a certificate from the Senate.

She also participated in sports and various competitions.

We are elated at her achievement and wish her success in all her future endeavours.

Pakistani student embraces school year in NB

"You're experiencing something new that changes your perception of the world."

Has Your Roof Been Whacked?

Let's hear it for the band

Pakistan student shares cultural presentations